High Soviet Army Men Will Be Shot "At Once" As Spies in Foreign Pay

Russia's Highest Tribunal Orders
the Sentences To Be Carried Out within 24 Hours by Firing Squad.

NO APPEAL

Swift Action Deemed Most Important
of Soviet Union's Treason Trials.

Moscow, June 12 (AP).—Eight of the Soviet Union's highest military leaders were doomed to the firing squad today for treasonable activity against the red army they headed. No appeal remained from the death sentences handed down long before dawn by the military tribunal of the supreme court which branded the army chiefs as traitors in the spy service of a foreign power.

The nation's highest tribunal announced the verdict at 2 a. m. (6 p. m., E. S. T., Friday), condemning Marshal Mikhail N. Tukhachevsky and seven generals, including important figures in the military hierarchy, to death "immediately." Soviet custom dictates that such sentences must be carried out within 24 hours. The swift-moving military trial was deemed by foreign observers as probably the most important of the Soviet Union's treason trials, since it disclosed disaffection in the army's topmost ranks.

The secret trial stripped the eight of all military rank, including the title "Marshal of the Soviet Union" accorded Tukhachevsky two years ago when the rank was established. Only four others in the red army have achieved that designation.

Two Marshals on Tribunal

Two marshals sat on the tribunal in judgment of the generals and Tukhachevsky, the brilliant 44-year-old strategist, who was vice-commissioner for defense until a month ago. Six generals and Vasily V. Ulrich, president of the dread court, were also judges.

A court communiqué said: "The court has established that the accused were in the service of the military service of a foreign state carrying on an unfriendly policy toward the U. S. S. R.; that they have systematically supplied military circles of the country with spy information; carried on wrecking action in order to break the power of the workers' and peasants' red army, and in case of a military attack on the U. S. S. R. to prepare for the defeat of the U. S. S. R.; that they aimed to aid the disorganization of the U. S. S. R. and the restoration of landlords and capitalists in the U. S. S. R."

All Confess, Is Report

The court announced all eight confessed their guilt.

The official statement charged the late General Jan Garmark, former vice-commissioner of defense, with equal guilt. He was reported to have killed himself June 1 after being exposed as a traitor.

The death sentence was passed against these men in addition to Marshal Tukhachevsky.

Gen. Kazimirovich V. Putna, former military attaché in Rome, Berlin and Tokyo.

Gen. A. I. Kork, former commander of the Soviet West Point, Frunze Military Academy.

Gen. I. E. Yakir, former commander of the Leningrad garrison.

Gen. I. P. Uborevitch, former commander of the army in White Russia.

Gen. Robert P. Eldeman, former chief of the army branch for training reservists and civilians in aviation and gas defense.

Gen. B. M. Feldman, former chief of the personnel section of the general staff.

Gen. V. M. Primakov of the Kharkoff military garrison.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $4,614,042,250.06; expenditures, $7,036,991,065.79, including $2,681,096,886.56 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $2,422,948,815.73; gross debt, $35,282,430,647.22, an increase of $435,945.85 over the previous day; gold assets, $12,127,451,834.74, including $896,110,032.28 of inactive gold.

Eight Jurors Now in Box To Hear Brown Murder Case, New Panel Drawn

DEATH PASSED BY

Grace Vance, twice named one of Louisiana State University's most beautiful co-eds, received a slight wound from a stray bullet when her father shot to death Night Marshal E. C. Harrington following a quarrel in his drug store at Shaw, Miss.

Bailey Would Pass Laws to Clarify Mail Restrictions

Washington, June 12 (AP).—Senator Bailey (D-N. C.) said today that legislation to clarify restrictions on mail delivery should follow the Senate inquiry into the midwest steel strikes.

Discretion in refusing to make deliveries in cases of danger, he said, should be defined so as not to include "such man-made supposed dangers as are" involved in this strike situation.

Allegations of interference with mail service to strike-bound plants will be one of the principal subjects covered in the investigation, ordered yesterday by the Senate postoffice committee.

Members may bring up any other phases of the strike they wish, for the inquiry was designated as a "preliminary" one.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn.), in charge of arrangements, said he wanted to inquire into reports that the Republic Steel Company had offered to provide guards to escort the mail through picket lines.

"That looks to me like an attempt to take the government into partnership to break the strike," he said.

W. W. Howes, assistant postmaster general, told the committee yesterday that "abnormal" deliveries of food packages to the steel plants had been discontinued because the safety of postal employees was endangered. He denied charges of interference.

Senator Guffey (D-Pa.), at whose instance the inquiry was broadened to include the conduct of both parties to the strikes and charges of illegal transport of arms and strikebreakers, had yet to decide what witnesses he would call.

It was expected, however, that Philip Murray, head steel organizer for the committee for industrial organization, and individual strikers might be asked to testify.

Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) said it was apparent from testimony yesterday on his resolution to investigate the postal angles of the strikes "that there has been a breakdown of law and order in strike areas."

Held Clemency Hearing

Albany, N. Y., June 12 (AP).—Governor Lehman announced today he would hold a clemency hearing June 24 in Albany for four men convicted of murdering the slain during the holdup of a Kings county bar and holdup of a four Watson Edwards grill. The four, Watson Edwards, Harry Eisenberg, Anthony Garius and Raymond Norton, were convicted last January of the murder committed November 3, 1936. All are under sentence to die in the electric chair during the week of June 28.

No More Borrowing

Washington, June 12 (AP).—Fiscal officials said today that, after six years of heavy borrowing, the government may operate in the next fiscal year without going to the money market for new cash. With $809,000,000 from June borrowing flowing into the treasury cash box, these authorities said it is possible the treasury will undertake only the refinancing of obligations coming due after July 1.

Dog on Trial

Fort Smith, Ark., June 12 (AP).—Ranger, a police dog, was a prisoner in the city jail today while efforts were under way to stay his scheduled execution. Municipal Judge J. A. Gallagher ordered the dog shot after several persons reported he had bitten them. Yesterday the Sebastian County Humane Society prepared a petition in the dog's behalf.

Of the 45 prospective jurors who have been examined for duty in the Charles James Brown murder case which is now on trial before Judge Traver in county court, eight have proved satisfactory and when court recessed Friday afternoon until 10 o'clock Monday morning there remained but four jurors to complete the panel.

The eight men who have been selected and sworn are:

Jeremiah Mulhern, Kingston.
William J. Mooney, Glenclire.
Frank A. Reis, Sr., Kingston.
Walter S. Berry, New Paltz.
Vernon Fairbairn, Hardenberg.
William Scott, Kingston.
Harold Walker, Clintondale.
Raymond Bell, West Shokan.

Three jurors were accepted Friday afternoon before a recess was taken and Judge Traver directed that an additional panel of 25 men be summoned for duty Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Of the panel of 62 men who remained after excuses had been exercised by the first 100 extra jurors drawn, but 17 remained to be called for examination and Judge Traver directed that Sheriff Molyneux have the second extra panel of 25 men in court Monday so there would be no delay in the conclusion of the case.

Brown Remains Silent

Brown, colored Ellenville truckman charged with the murder of Isidore Handelman, aged Ellenville junk man, on April 8 last, sat throughout the session Friday and heard numerous jurors told that conviction would probably result in the death penalty and still Brown gave little evidence of concern in the matter. Thus far he had not spoken a word to his attorneys in court.

At the afternoon session Fred Wolf of Kingston, Julius Kross of Dairyland and Daniel DeGraff of New Paltz were excused in that order. Then the name of John Berardi of Goldrick's Landing was called.

He failed to respond and Sheriff Molyneux was directed by the court to see what had happened to the man. Later Berardi appeared in court and said that when he had been summoned he had been told by his mail man that he would fix the matter up and consequently Berardi did not come to court. He said he had been at home Friday afternoon when Deputy Sheriff Charles McCullough had come to his house and told him to get to court immediately. Judge Traver told the juror that he had better not depend on anyone else taking care of a summons to court in the future and directed that in future the man respond to a summons to court or something would happen which might be unpleasant. Berardi was excused.

Andrew Deyo, retired farmer from Gardiner, answered the questions put to him in a most intelligent manner and was satisfactory to the People but the defense excused him.

William Scott, a former city employee who said he was an ERB worker now, said he was not prejudiced against negroes, had read about the case when it happened but had formed no opinion and had none now. He was satisfactory to the People and the defense and was sworn by County Clerk Simpson as juror No. 6.

Fred Wolven was called next and said he was not opposed to capital punishment and was not prejudiced against a negro. He had read of the case in the papers and had an opinion which he was afraid he could not put aside. He was challenged for cause and sustained by the court.

Charles Snyder, Sr., of Connelly said he knew J. Edward Conway, who with Robert G. Groves appears as defense counsel and had known him several years ago when Mr. Conway was assistant district attorney. He also knew Mr. Murray and Mr. Harvey. He was excused by the People.

Walker Approved

Harold Walker of Clintondale said he knew Mr. Groves, who had acted as referee in a matter once in which Walker was interested. The juror said Mr. Groves had decided the matter in his favor but had been reversed. He had read of the murder in the Poughkeepsie paper but had

Genuine Fear Felt For Missing Mrs. Parsons, Suffolk Official Says

No Search for Missing Society
Woman Started Yet, in Deference to Husband's Wishes—
Doesn't Want Blame, Either.

RUSSIAN QUIZZED

State Troopers Concentrate on Housekeeper, Last Person to
"See Mrs. Parsons."

Stony Brook, N. Y., June 12 (AP).—A Suffolk county, Long Island, official disclosed today that genuine fear is felt for the safety of Mrs. Alice McDowell Parsons, 38-year-old society woman who vanished from her "Long Meadows" farm three days ago.

Assistant District Attorney Lindsay R. Henry, the official, said no search for Mrs. Parsons has started yet out of deference to the expressed wishes of her husband, William G. Parsons, gentleman poultry farmer, to give the supposed abductors of his wife a chance to establish contact with him.

"And," he added, "we don't want her husband to blame us if anything should happen to her now. That's why all the law enforcing agencies are laying off. When the circumstances warrant it we shall begin a search for her."

Stony Brook, N. Y., June 12 (AP).—Investigators prodded a plump, black-haired Russian woman with patient questions today on her story of life at "Long Meadows" farm from which Mrs. Alice McDowell Parsons vanished without a trace save a crude note demanding $25,000 ransom.

State Police, pursuing their own investigation while federal agents moved secretly, concentrated on questioning Mrs. Anna Kuprioff, housekeeper in the Parsons home.

It was Mrs. Kuprioff who told of seeing the 38-year-old heiress get into an automobile with a middle-aged man and woman Wednesday morning and drive away on a trip from which she has not returned.

Across from Mrs. Kuprioff in the Bay Shore police station sat Alex Kuprioff, 43-year-old match factory worker, who came from Long Island City yesterday to claim he was her former husband.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph S. Arata of Suffolk county emerged from the conference early this morning to say that Mrs. Kuprioff acknowledged the relationship, though she had not mentioned Kuprioff in her earlier story of two former marriages.

Denies Paraphrase

Arata said the woman also identified Kuprioff as the father of her 11-year-old son, Roy, who lived with her on the Parsons' poultry farm. The match maker, Arata said, dismissed that statement as "impossible." She previously had said Roy was the child of her first husband, who died in an automobile accident.

The questioning was broken off at 3 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) with the announcement that it would be resumed later this morning. Mrs. Kuprioff was taken back to the Parsons home while Kuprioff remained at the barracks overnight.

While reports spread that the heiress would be released soon in New York city, that a contact had been made with the kidnappers, and that the ransom had been paid, no signs of activity were apparent at the Stony Brook home.

The missing woman's husband, William H. Parsons, haggard and worn, went through the motions of caring for his squab farm, refusing all comment after he had twice appealed for freedom from police supervision in attempts to contact his wife's supposed abductors.

Refuses Statement

He refused to discuss reports that a second note had been received, supplementing the one found under the cushions of his car, 18 hours after Mrs. Parsons disappeared $25,000 "or you will never speak to Alice again."

Another twist to the enigmatic position of the Russian woman in the Parsons household came through the disclosure that she had changed her name to Parsons when she took out naturalization papers in 1936. Her

10,000 at Johnstown Join Steel Strike; Gov. Murphy Will Hold Detroit Meeting

4 Murder Verdicts Reversed in 6 Months By Court of Appeals

Albany, N. Y., June 12 (AP).—Reversals of four out of nine first degree murder convictions in a half year of decisions were written into the records of New York's Court of Appeals today as the tribunal recessed until July 13.

The records disclosed that all four reversals were in felony murder cases and in three of them the court based its decision on failure of trial judges to charge the juries with the various degrees of homicide.

The situation caused Chief Judge Frederick E. Crane to "caution" trial judges in an opinion explaining the tribunal's action in granting an appeal from a first degree murder conviction.

"We again caution the trial judges," the jurist wrote, "to use the short form of charge—murder in the first degree, or, not guilty—only when there can be no question whatever of the killing during the commission of a felony."

The opinion was written in the case of Felix J. Cummings and George Lewis, both of Brooklyn, who were convicted of shooting to death Ralph Nische during an attempted holdup of a Brooklyn Grill, February 7, 1936. Both were granted new trials.

Two weeks later, the tribunal reversed the first degree murder conviction of James Sullivan, 17-year-old Brooklyn pin boy, who was sentenced to die for slaying Herman Meyerson, 53, during an attempted holdup in a Brooklyn store, February 20, 1936.

While no opinion was handed down by the court in granting Sullivan a new trial, it based its authority for the reversal on the ruling in the Cummings and Lewis case.

The fourth felony murder conviction to be reversed by the state's highest court during the last six months was that of William Crumm of Leonia, N. J., who was found guilty at Newburgh of first degree murder in the slaying of Grover C. Nelson, Walden gas station attendant, December 15, 1934.

Crumm's right to another trial was granted by the court on grounds that he was convicted by uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice.

Freighter Sinks

Oslo, Norway, June 12 (AP).—Luxurious cruiser ship Stella Polaris today took aboard the crew of a small dynamite-laden steamer that sank after colliding with her late last night. The dynamite did not explode. The Stella Polaris, undamaged and with none of her passengers injured, picked up the crew of the Norwegian cargo vessel Nobel when the dynamite freighter sank several hours after the collision. Several members of the Nobel's crew were reported injured.

Battleship Aground

San Francisco, June 12 (AP).—A dozen tugboats swarmed around the 32,300-ton battleship Tennessee today, straining vainly to free her from a shoal in San Francisco Bay. It was the second failure within 24 hours to dislodge the warship during high tide. The great vessel ground her nose into the mudflats off Alameda yesterday morning.

Stratosphere Flying

Washington, June 12 (AP).—Chairman Mead (D-N.Y.) said today the house postoffice committee was working on a new air mail bill which might lead to exploration of the possibilities of stratosphere flying between New York and San Francisco.

Will Induct Poletti

Albany, N. Y., June 12 (AP).—Charles Poletti, counsel to Governor Lehman, will be inducted Monday as a Supreme Court justice in the First Judicial District, with the governor heading the list of speakers.

STRIKE MILLINERY

Representatives of Opposing Sides in Strike against 3 Major Steel Manufacturers Fail to Agree in Ohio.

"WE HOPE SO"

Three Words of Optimism Answer
Query Put to Davey on Strike Situation.

(By The Associated Press)

Columbus, O., June 12.—The Aggressive Steel Workers organizing committee struck at a Bethlehem Steel Corp. plant today even as representatives of opposing sides in a strike against three other major steel makers were unable to agree on a seven-point settlement plan proposed by Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio.

The list of 73,000 strike-idle workers at mills of Republic Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., and Inland Steel Corp., was increased by a union-estimated 10,000 at Bethlehem's sprawling Cambria plant at Johnstown, Pa. Company executives declined to comment on the number who had left their jobs.

Pickets, numbering 200 to 330 around each gate of the Pennsylvania plant where 12,000 to 15,000 mill hands are employed, cheered as the night shift stopped work promptly at midnight (E. D. T.). There was an immediate indication of a spread of the walkout to other plants of Bethlehem, the union's second largest steel producer which employs 80,000 workers.

The prolonged peace conference here in Ohio's executive mansion between representatives of Republic, Sheet & Tube and John L. Lewis' steel union broke up nearly 11 hours after it had convened. It was recessed until next Tuesday.

"We Hope So"

Governor Davey said of the conference "It was very interesting to see them smiling as they shook hands and said 'good night.' Asked if he felt progress had been made toward settling the seven-state strike, the Governor said "we hope so."

After Davey urged the companies to sign a SWOC contract recognizing the union as collective bargaining agent for its own members only—the point at issue throughout the two and one-half week-old strike—company representatives said they had not changed their intention against signing.

The officials, J. C. Argetsinger of Sheet & Tube and J. A. Voss of Republic, expressed hope Governor Davey would find a way to settle the conflict without necessity of signing a contract. "The Governor has been very patient and gave us all the time we wanted to present our side," Voss commented.

Union representatives—Philip Murray, national SWOC chairman, and John Owens, Ohio C. I. O. director—insisted, meanwhile, on a contract. "We are not going to walk out—we are willing to wait for days," a union spokesman said.

The proposal that the SWOC be recognized in a contract for its members only was virtually identical to the agreement signed with the SWOC several months ago by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co., subsidiary of the U. S. Steel Corp., which is the nation's largest producer.

"Plans 'Peaceful' Meeting

Michigan's governor, Frank Murphy, announced he would meet to Detroit today with C. I. O. leaders and city officials of Monroe, Mich., to pave the way for a "peaceful" mass meeting at Monroe Sunday.

The demonstration was called by Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, who asked C. I. O. unions in Michigan, Indiana and Ohio to assemble in troubled Monroe for a "gigantic mass meeting" to protest routing of a picket line of striking C. I. O. steel workers at a Republic Steel subsidiary Thursday night.

The announcement was followed by a Monroe city commission resolution "demanding" National Guardsmen to protect the southern Michigan city during the meeting. Governor Murphy said whether troops would be sent hinged on today's meeting.

"We will discuss plans to prevent trouble on any side," he stated. "There is no great need for concern. If everybody uses good judgment and accepts his share of responsibility the meeting can be held peacefully."

Reaches Definite Point

Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of Indiana, after separate Indianapolis meetings with labor leaders and representatives of two Indiana plants involved in the far-flung Great Lakes steel strike, said "the situation has reached a very definite point of dispute and that's the signing of a contract."

Declaring he had no intention of entering the labor dispute immediately, he disclosed "I have two plans in mind but I can't explain power—the Laureate Plaqueque."

Franco's Insurgent Army Renews Advances on Bilbao Spreading Death, Destruction in Wake

By EDWARD J. NEIL

With insurgents besieging Bilbao, June 12 (AP).—Basque dead, terribly mangled by insurgent bombardment from land and air, lay sprawled in the trenches of a newly conquered section of Bilbao's western front to-day while the living dug new trenches behind them.

The renewed push of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's northern army under Gen. Fidelio Davila, now that rainy skies have cleared, may be the blow that will crumple Bilbao's last stand defenses.

The insurgent command predicted the drive would be continued "as long as the weather lasts or until Bilbao falls."

Today there lay but one more range of hills between the insurgent besiegers and their goal. Somewhere through its rolling green expanse, officers said, runs Bilbao's "Iron ring" defense system.

The attacking force in this sector, after a day of fierce artillery and aviation operations, entrenched itself along a five-mile ridge of high hills overlooking the valley towns of Lezama and Larraburu, with Bilbao only about five miles to the west.

After watching preparations for the artillery and air assault, I went forward yesterday afternoon on the foredeck of a small, two-man tank to the front line positions along the hilltops and saw the last strands of Basque opposition there ripped apart.

The only remaining weapon of a four-gun Basque battery, just beyond the rim of the hill, dropped four shells within 50 feet of the tank line as my vehicle started out.

In the whole thunderous day in this sector, that was the only defense battery in operation. I saw no Basque airplanes but the insurgent command darkened the skies with about 100 aircraft.

When the sun set behind Bilbao, that battery's last gun, too, had been silenced and around it in the trenches furrowing the slopes lay the abandoned dead of the Basque defenders.

From the brow of a hill overlooking the valley in which lie Lezama and Larraburu, I could see the Basques frantically digging a new line of trenches, beyond the town, and at the foot of the last hills the insurgent army must cross before it can knife into Bilbao.

THE GARDEN COLUMN

by JAMES H. BURDETT

Director of National Garden Bureau
This is the season for thinning out. It is now necessary to practice a little surgery and it will probably not hurt to do it right. Unless it is done ruthlessly not only the ultimate yield of the garden will suffer but the production of well grown specimens will be impossible.

Most root crops in particular must be thinned at this time. If left until they attain some size it is impossible to thin them without checking the growth of those that remain. This does not apply to carrots and beets, which may be thinned when some are large enough to use. It is the half-grown carrots that are most delicious and the growth is so much more in length than in the diameter of the root that the thinning process does not disturb the others so much.

Late Sowings Are Important
Planting season over? Not at all. For early crops you must plant early; but late crops are desirable also, and seeds planted now will grow so much faster that the harvest will not be relatively as late as was the seeding.

Annual flower seeds sown now for the quick germinating varieties, such as zinnias, poppies, nasturtiums, marigolds, ageratum and cosmos will produce flowers by August. In the vegetable gardens there are many seeds which should be sown for late crops.

Vegetable crops which should not be sown now include peas, early radishes, lettuce and spinach. All these require cool weather and you may sow very early kinds in August, so they will mature in the autumn. Sweetcorn is a crop for late sowing. Early kinds may be put in as late as July 1, and the finest corn is produced by late sown seeds.

Succession crops in the vegetable garden prolong the harvest. When early vegetables have ended their yield, they should be cleared away and something else planted.

CARNATION IS ANCIENT CORONATION FAVORITE

For centuries the carnation has been known as the divine flower. Its name is said to have come from "coronation," because the spicy blooms were used in ancient times for crowns and garlands to adorn their deities and heroes.

Anyone Can Make This Simple, Charming Carnation Arrangement.

Second only to the rose in popularity in America, the carnation is favored because of its lovely fragrance and great range of colors. Some of the newer varieties in tones of yellow, maroon, lavender or apricot and the spotted and flecked combinations of two colors are particularly outstanding. No other flower has gained greater popularity in recent years for corsages and personal adornment; they are being carried by brides and their attendants in many of the most fashionable weddings this spring.

GAS PUTS STRIKERS TO ROUT

Here is the scene as a few of 200 special policemen fired a barrage of tear and nauseating gas to rout strikers picketing the Newton Steel Company at Monroe, Mich., in a successful attempt to reopen the strike-bound plant. Eight hundred non-striking workers rode through the shattered picket line into the plant. At least eight persons were treated in hospitals for minor injuries after the attack. Twenty of the 250 pickets were women, but all were armed with clubs and stones which were used in futile resistance.

C. I. O. AUXILIARY

Four looks from this trio of women pickets prophesied trouble for non-striking workers who reopened the Newton steel plant in Monroe, Mich. The prophecy came true when police and pickets fought a pitched battle.

Mayor Heiselman Had a Good Night

Mayor C. J. Heiselman, who is suffering from a bronchial infection, was reported today as having passed a good night at his home on West Chestnut street. Acting under his physician's orders the mayor will not resume his duties at the city hall for several weeks. While the mayor is ill President John J. Schwenk of the Common Council is serving as acting mayor.

Mayor Heiselman, although ill, headed the Memorial Day parade and at the close of the parade was ordered to bed by his physician. He felt much improved in health a few days later and attended the Kiwanis-Patrolmen's dinner, but that afternoon he was again ordered to bed by his physician, and since then has been confined to his home.

LOOK FOR THRILLING MESSAGES IN THE PALM OF YOUR HANDS

See what exciting messages you hold in your hand! They're easy to read—and such fun.

Does your palm tell a tale like the first one? A deep, straight Heart Line with no fickle wavering says the course of true love runs smooth. A clear unbroken Head Line shows keen wit. A straight unbroken Fate Line predicts good fortune. A nice hand—but not particularly interesting—until you glance at the Life Line.

Gracious! Look at the square breaking right through the smooth curve of the Life Line. A narrow squeak for you some day! Maybe a shipwreck or a car crash. But you'll be saved by a hair's breadth and live to tell the tale!

Stars Bring Good Luck
Any stars on your palm, as in the second? Thrills in store for you! A star on the mount of the first finger promises shining success; on the mount of the second finger, dramatic adventure. Glittering wealth, a star on the mount of the third finger says. Near the fourth finger a star foretells business or professional success. Stars on the thumb's mount say you've sex appeal.

The charts and diagrams of our 40-page booklet, PALMISTRY AND ASTROLOGY, make it easy to read the messages in your own palm or any one else's.

Send 15c for our booklet, PALMISTRY AND ASTROLOGY, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

"LET'S INVESTIGATE"

Sen. H. Styles Bridges (R., N. H.) charges union interference with the U. S. mail and shows the Senate Postoffice Committee in Washington a package of non-perishable food-stuff which he says Niles, O., postal authorities refused to strike-bound workers in a Republic Steel plant there. He demanded an investigation.

now what either of them is." Governor Townsend had conferred with representatives of Sheet & Tube and Inland and of the SWOC.

Three men were injured, two seriously, when an automobile driven at high speed crashed through a picket line around Republic's Niles, O., plant last night in a successful effort to enter the plant property.

The car broke a half-inch wire cable stretched across the plant driveway by pickets, the flying cable striking the three. Joseph Fer, 16, picket, suffered a fractured leg and Nicholas Nordant, 61, bystander, a fractured leg and dislocated shoulder. Another picket was treated at a hospital for bruises and released.

The enraged pickets threatened to enter the strike-bound plant, where food has been dropped from airplanes for non-striking workers. Deputy sheriffs restrained the crowd with a promise to try to take the automobile driver into custody.

Labrador and Britain
Labrador extends across nearly the same latitudes as the British Isles, but the shores of Britain and Ireland are washed by a current northbound from the tropics, while the icy waters of the Arctic flow down past the irregular northeastern coast of North America. There is, therefore, a vast difference in climate. The British climate is for the most part comfortably temperate, with winters usually milder than those which prevail in Ohio. The Labrador climate is described as very severe, cold and stormy. Toward the north its forests gradually diminish, the upper part of the country consisting of bare tundras. The Labrador winters are rated bearable and healthful, due to their dryness.

First Before British Royalty

Born in 1744, Abigail Smith became the wife of a young Massachusetts lawyer, John Adams, when she was twenty. Acknowledged as one of those who helped shape a new nation, John Adams was rewarded with the appointment of first United States minister to Great Britain in 1784, and his wife and eighteen-year-old daughter Abby joined him in London. The following summer they curtsied, as the first bona fide Americans, before British royalty—thereby leading off a picturesque procession which a favored few of their sisters have continued for years.

Land for the White House

The principal owners of the land on which the city of Washington is built were Daniel Carroll, Samuel Davidson, Notley Yount and David Burnes. The land on which the White House stands belonged to David Burnes, an aged Scotchman, who very reluctantly gave up his 800 acres for the federal city when negotiations were in progress for buying up land for the national capital. Daniel Carroll owned a large tract of land along the eastern branch of the Potomac river, which includes the site of the Capitol.

Senior Apparel
The selected wearing apparel for the boys of the senior class of 1937 as decided in a recent convention of the male graduates retains the customary garb worn in past ceremonies. The 1937 official costume as selected by popular vote for the baccalaureate services, class day and commencement day exercises is herewith stated to alleviate the uncertainty as to proper dress. For baccalaureate services, Sunday evening, June 20, 7:30—dark blue suit, dark blue trousers, black shoes, official class tie, white shirt, or appropriate conservative apparel. For class day exercises, Monday evening, June 21, 7:30—dark blue suit, white shirt, official class tie and white shirt. For commencement day exercises, Tuesday evening, June 22, 7:30—dark blue suit, dark blue trousers, black or white shoes, official class tie and white shirt. The above apparel for the different class functions was passed by resolution of the senior class at large and is not to be deviated from according to individual or personal taste. The senior class committee was composed of Arthur London as chairman, with Matthew Bence and Harold Riley as members of the group as appointed by Class President Frank O'Hara.

Musical Concert

A specially arranged violin concert was rendered in the "B" assembly Thursday morning by Milton Wolven, a senior, and comprised one of the musical highlights of the series of scholastic musicals. Mr. Wolven, a member of the high school orchestra, was accompanied at the piano by Priscilla Nolan during the course of his sparkling violin concert. The youthful violinist showed a splendid tone interpretation by his selection of a trio of classical gems, "Spanish Dance," a lively composition emblematic of the Spanish countryside, was the initial number. Fritz Kreisler's arrangement of the "Blue Danube" was played with a vigorous nonchalance amid a thundering round of applause with the "Episcopo" by Leitz completing the musical festa. The tone value of the student concert was of highest quality and thoroughly demonstrated the young violinist's ability. Mr. Dumm extended his personal congratulations on the fine choice of selection and musical interpretation demonstrated by the member of the high school orchestra. The assembly was the finale in this "B" schedule for the scholastic year and the programs staged were the finest enacted in recent years due to the fine work of the faculty assembly committee.

Commencement Dance

The traditional commencement dance will be held in the spacious municipal auditorium on Wednesday evening, June 23, the night following the graduation exercises. Roger Bauer's melodic 12-piece orchestra will provide the musical strains for the affair which will be held on one of the finest dance floors in the Hudson valley. Past commencement dances have always been huge successes and this year's edition is expected to be one of the finest conducted to date. The dance, aside from the high-class entertainment value, is the last official gathering of the graduates of the class of 1937 and will mark the parting of families for many of the former senior students. The hall will be appropriately bedecked for the second annual visit of the commencement dancers as past affairs before last year have been staged in the high school gym. Arrangements for a gala ceremony in celebration of the preceding day have been completed and a top-notch time is guaranteed to all in attendance.

The commencement dance committee with Harry Wilber, as chairman, and Kay Quizey, Margaret Brodie, Lorraine Halstein and Harold Reis as members of the group insure a pleasant evening in one of the major events in student life. Tickets may be secured during the coming week from the committee for the outstanding social event of the school year.

College Awards
Forty New York state scholarships will be awarded to war orphans who are legal residents of this state. The scholarships are valued at $200 apiece for the four year college course and include living expenses and tuition and are acceptable in any higher-educational institution in New York state. Manhattan College offered four scholarships to the rapidly growing institution located in New York city during the week. Graduates of the senior class of Catholic faith and a member of the June or January graduation group were eligible to compete for the scholarship awards. January graduates must have no post graduate work in order to have been eligible to register application during the week with Mr. Dumm as the competitive examinations were slated to be held this week-end.

1937 Maroon
The long-awaited appearance of the Kingston High School 1937 yearbook, the Maroon, published by the senior class annually took place yesterday morning at 11:30 in the various roll-calls of the high school. Deviating from the customary procedure of only the senior roll-call rooms extended the privilege of receiving the coveted year-books, the entire roll-call system was visited by Maroon agents based on the home-room count system. The book was larger and more profusely illustrated with photographs than ever before and was easily the most outstanding publication in recent years. A special literary supplement was also supplied with the year-book containing the prize-winning essays and compositions of the students who were awarded recognition during the May Day ceremonies. Individual pictures of the members of the graduating class, sport supplements, extra-curricular organizations and other features constituted a splendid publication issued by the current Maroon staff in charge of Thomas McManus, editor-in-chief. Books for purchase by interested townsfolk and alumni can be obtained at O'Reilly's at a nominal fee. Students not having receipts may obtain their Maroons today or during Regents week in Mr. Vauxha's room with the leading bookstores now exhibiting a supply for outside sales.

Speakerships

The list of the traditional speakerships for the 1937 Senior Class Graduation exercises were completed recently and present an imposing roster of oratorical talent for the colorful ceremonies. The Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle, M. A., pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church of the Redeemer, will deliver the Baccalaureate service address in the high school auditorium Sunday evening, June 20, at 8 o'clock. Admission to the solemn but impressive services is open to the general public in the initial event on the graduation program. Eight student speakers will render a series of serious and humorous orations as the feature of the Class Day exercises held Monday evening, June 21, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. The list of student speakers comprises the best oratorical talent in the class.

The list of speakerships includes the following: Alfred Tyler, class orator; William Wall, class poet; Carl Studer, class prophet; Richard Pfeiffer, class critic; Ethel Moncur, class historian; Margery Whiteley, class legacy; Roger Salzman, address to faculty; Dorothy Eymann, address to juniors. The commencement speakers will be the Misses Jean Elwyn, valedictorian, and Evelyn Olivet, salutatorian by virtue of their high scholastic standings. The commencement address will be given by Dr. Seeley, president of St. Lawrence University, in the feature oratorical gesture of the momentous occasion, Tuesday evening, June 22, at 8 o'clock, in the municipal auditorium.

Motion Picture Projector

The Kingston Board of Education has authorized the purchase of a Bell-Howell motion picture projector machine to be used in connection with assembly programs and individual class activities. The machine will project a 16mm. film and fills a much needed educational instrument in the important assembly programs. Pictorial features depicting varied phases of educational instruction involving travel, research, conservation, geography, civic and history studies and other subjects can be accurately expounded to classes via the screen. Numerous demonstrations were held by the leading projection firms during the past school year but the board decided on the purchase of the Bell-Howell company's instrument. The machine will also be available for use in the grammar school system and participating unit upon demanded occasions. A slide and lantern projector are already owned by the high school authorities but they do not fulfill the needed requirements of a modern projector.

1937-38 Dame Rumor

The Dame Rumor staff members for the school news organ publication beginning next September and continuing through the school year until June were selected at a recent meeting. The nominees were selected on the basis of their newswriting ability and journalistic talents exhibited during the recently completed terms. Advancements have been made to fill graduation vacancies of the editorial positions on the basis of meritorious service with positions subject to change upon the reconvening of school next fall. Eighteen members will conduct the affairs of the paper next scholastic season with seven special reporters assisting in the coverage of all school news. The 1937-38 Dame Rumor staff follows: Managing editors—Ella Guida, Mary Elizabeth Clough and Eric Fuegel; associate editors—Janet van Hovevburg, Hazel Kaufman, Betty Giff, Mary Adeline Summers, Elsie Buchanan, Margery Fitzgerald; sports editors—Robert Stone, Irwin Thomas, Donald Van Deusen; business manager—John Hansen; assistant business manager—Arleen Bedford; circulation manager—Collins Troy; advertising manager—Ned Dunbar. Special reporter recognition was extended to the following students who will act as special correspondents: Cecelia Netter, Richard Dumm, Elbert Loughran, Robert Noble, Genevieve Whiteley, James Castle and Elaine Johnson. Editorial assignments were already completed among the upperclassmen but recognition in the form of special assignment reporters was rendered the seven in return for their exhibited journalistic ability. Miss Agnes Scott Smith and Clifford Miller will again act as faculty advisors next term.

Dame Rumor Contest

The annual senior popularity contests were held by Dame Rumor, official KHS paper, and the tabulations disclosed the popular choices of the members of the Senior Class at large. The elections were held in the various senior roll-call rooms in the school and results compiled by staff members of the paper's popularity contest board. Class preference for various students in different phases of life and character were disclosed and largest individual total was given to Jake Myers for his dancing ability. A tie for the latest girl in the school existed between two of the female members with all other candidates receiving goodly margins. Some of the popularity contest winners follow: Best all-round boy, Frank O'Hara; best all-round girl, Evelyn Winfield; best dressed boy, Dan Cullen; best dressed girl, Dorothy Tancered; best dressed male faculty member, Arthur Kurtzacker; best dressed female faculty member, Miss Baltz; wittiest girl, Margery Whiteley; best boy dancer, Jacob Myers; best girl dancer, Rose Silverberg; senior boy that has done the most for KHS, Frank O'Hara; girl, Evelyn Olivet; best all-round faculty male, Arthur Kurtzacker; best all-round faculty female, Miss Agnes Scott Smith. Other class preference as to favorite song bits (September in the Rain), favorite radio dance orchestra (Guy Lombardo), favorite male movie star (Tyronne Powers) and other favorite selections were also published in the finale of the school publication.

Senior Assembly

The heralded annual Senior Assembly was staged yesterday afternoon at 12:45 in the feature auditorium program of the scholastic year to officially culminate the term. Moving to the martial strains of the high school orchestra, the 1937 Senior Class moved en masse down in slow, solemn, strides to the reserved sector of the auditorium as the underclassmen stood at attention. President Frank O'Hara and other class officials led the march with the members of the graduates paired in couples, in a stirring appearance. The Senior Assembly Committee, composed of Roger Salzman and George Sivsky as co-chairman with Margery Whiteley, Beatrice Weinberger, Mary Manion and Holt Winfield, arranged a top-notch amateur vaudeville card. The talent exhibited surpasses recent productions staged by previous classes.

Vocal selections were rendered by Harold Riley, the Sawkill thrush, Nathalie Phillips and William Wall. Mildred Ludwig and a supporting dance troupe staged an intricate series of feather-footed evolutions but the big hit of the affair was a farcical act of hilarity entitled "Schooldays" interpreting the bu-morous movements of the local faculty. The cast of student talent portrayed the more learned tales with great gusto and rang down the curtain on the high school career of the Seniors in a happy moment, in appropriate style.

Farewell
With this issue the weekly column conducted by The Freeman during the recently completed school year 1936-37 comes to the parting of the ways with its readers. The columnist conducting this weekly feature wishes to extend his appreciation for the whole-hearted cooperation extended by the officials and faculty of Kingston High School during the past 10 months and to The Freeman for its generous journalistic coverage of the high school events.

Exposition Shows Will Arrive Today

The World's Exposition Shows that are scheduled to appear here all next week at the Washington Viaduct grounds for the benefit of the Excelsior Hose Company have engaged a new feature attraction that will be given free on the midway at every performance. It is one of the most intrepid flying acts in the country and known as The Four Flying Nincoms Troupe, three males and one female. They exhibit 50 feet in the air, and pass and repass each other from the high trapezes in thrilling fashion. They have been featured at the largest of state fairs and will be one of the attractions that will be seen at the New York State Fair with the World's Exposition Shows this year.

In addition to this there will be another feature in Samson, the strongest man in the world, who catches beautiful Mlle Marguerite when she is fired from an immense cannon on the midway, using no safety devices or net in the performance whatever.

These free attractions will be given nightly and at the matinee on Saturday, with the 29 shows in operation and the 14 riding devices in full swing.

The World's Exposition Shows are said to be the largest organization of their kind to ever visit the city. They are a very unique outdoor amusement feature, combining the thrills of the circus with the devices and entertainment of the up-to-date amusement park.

The shows will arrive over the New York Central Railroad today and begin to set up their paraphernalia in Monday morning at day light, in order not to disturb churchgoers or the Sunday activities of the local churches.

About 70 couples were present at the Delphic affair with Mr. and Mrs. Emory Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. Loren Campbell as guests of honor. Mr. Campbell acted as toastmaster. The third anniversary of the founding of Zeta Chapter, of Delta Kappa Fraternity, was celebrated at the annual Founder's Day banquet at Golden Rule Inn. Guests of honor of the evening were Mrs. Irene Compton and Dr. and Mrs. Roland G. Will. A special program in honor of the alumni founders of the chapter was enjoyed. Former presidents as well as President Robert Corliss and his successor, George Key, made short addresses.

In spite of the proper criticism of highway fatalities more people were killed or died from results of household accidents last year than were killed on highways. Incidentally one of the larger factors in accidental household deaths is hurrying the fire with kerosene.

There's a comforting thought at the close of the day
When I'm lonely and weary and sad,
That sort of takes hold of my crusty old heart

And bids it be merry and glad;
It gets on my soul, it drives out the blues,
And finally thrills through and through;
It's just a sweet memory that chants this refrain.

Shokan, June 11—Mrs. Denis T. Lynch and son, Dunstan, of New York, arrived at their country home on the upper mountain road Thursday.

Miss Louisa Thell of Arlington, N. J., is spending a vacation at the home of her father, Louis Thell, and grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Thell. Miss Gertrude Osterhoudt is again at her home in Brown's after having attended school in Brooklyn during the past winter.

June 12, 1913, was the date of the dedication of the new M. E. Church building at Ashokan. The Rev. C. H. Cookman of St. James M. E. Church conducted the morning services and the Rev. Hough Houston was in charge of the afternoon and evening exercises. The Rev. Charles G. Gorse, a former pastor of the local charge, gave an historical lecture on the life of the Shokan and Olive Branch M. E. Churches up to the time of consolidation and the forming of a new church. Eleven former pastors had been invited to attend the dedication. The building committee for the new house of worship was made up of Augustus Green, Aulden Van Benschoten, Benjamin Aulden Van Benschoten, Gutteridge Van Steenburgh, James G. Gorse and George Whittle. Of this committee, Mr. Gutteridge now resides in Kingston and Messrs. Green and Van Benschoten are deceased.

Business callers here Tuesday included Ben and Israel Werbalowsky, well known Kingston livestock dealers. They were looking for steers and young heifers, also bologna cows, for all of which there is a good demand. M. GLENN FOLGER

M. Glenn Folger, prominent attorney in Poughkeepsie, has accepted an invitation to serve as chairman of a University of Pennsylvania Bicentennial Committee which will include Pennsylvania alumni in Dutchess, Orange and Ulster counties, according to announcement by Dr. Thomas S. Gates, president of the university.

Mr. Folger, who was graduated from the College of Arts and Science of the University of Pennsylvania in 1904, is a trustee and former treasurer of Vassar Brothers Hospital, a director of the Merchants' National Bank and Trust Company, and a former president of the Rombout Riding and Hunt Club.

According to President Gates, the committee being organized under the leadership of Mr. Folger will, as a first of all, give active support to a program to develop the university's educational services along lines which will place increased emphasis upon four supremely important things—ethics, character, public service, and training for good citizenship.

Secondly, the committee will seek cooperation in the task of strengthening the faculties of the various schools and departments of the university, and also the library facilities, scientific laboratories, and other physical equipment essential to distinguished achievement in scholarship and research.

Finally, the alumni bicentennial committees all over the country will be called upon for assistance in planning and conducting a series of scholarly gatherings, seminars, academic ceremonies, national alumni meetings, scientific exhibits and other events that will feature the university's 200th anniversary celebration in 1940.

All In Fun

New York, June 12 (AP)—Red-headed Mildred Toron, 19, accused of stealing $3,000 of her employer's funds, told Brooklyn felony court officers: "I did it to amuse myself. I gave my boy friend a down payment for his car and I took my girl friends to night clubs and theatres."

Broadway: "The Prince and the Pauper." Mark Twain's story of reckless adventure concerning a boy king and a street urchin comes as an entertainment treat to the Broadway against the intrigue and color of the 18th century. A costume picture, it relates the interesting history of two small boys whose resemblance is so startling that the boy king changes places with the boy urchin for a day and nearly alters the course of destiny. The show also offers two new juvenile stars in the Mauch Twins and also the popular Errol Flynn in the role of a swashbuckling adventurer. Alive with excitement, fighting, romance and all those essentials that make a picture enjoyable, this production is sure to appeal to old and young alike.

Kingston: "They Gave Him a Gun." What happens to a man's mind when war makes it possible to legalize killing is brought out with unusual force in the strange drama at the Kingston, one of the most unusual stories to be written into a motion picture in some time. It tells of a placid young man whose outlook on life is completely altered when he comes face to face with brutality and the acting of Franchot Tone, Gladys George and Spencer Tracy is excellent to the point of reality. The plot also revolves around the question of two men loving the same girl and the pace of the picture is rapid and thrilling. Here is a problem study made into a melodrama both thought provoking and entertaining. Orpheum: "When's Your Birthday?" and "Valley of Terror." Joe E. Brown starts reading the stars in the comedy film at the downtown theatre and it gets to the point where he can delve into the future and see what is going to take place there. The plot is one of Mr. Brown's best in some time and he makes the most of the silly situations which arise. This show offers many laughs. "Valley of Terror" is the other feature, a grim but courageous story of great love struggling against great danger. Kermit Maynard is starred.

Tomorrow Broadway: Same. Kingston: Same. Orpheum: "Let's Get Married" and "Every Man's Law." A comedy and a western join forces to create the week-end features at the Orpheum, the first a domestic offering with Ida Lupino, Walter Connolly and Ralph Bellamy, the second a he-man drama of the western plains with John Mack Brown. The Dick Tracy serial continues as an added attraction.

Clintondale: June 12—Mrs. Werner Paelberg is spending some time in Tuscola, Ill., with her daughter and family. One case of scarlet fever has been reported about town. Sixty small children from Clintondale, Ardonia and Plattkill were inoculated with diphtheria serum at the local district school on Tuesday by Health Officer Branner. Mrs. Winfield Jenkins, chairman of the local Home Bureau unit, and Mrs. Parker Hull of Clintondale, made arrangements to have the children brought to the school. Mrs. George Ellis, who has been at Kingston Hospital for treatment for a broken ankle, is resting comfortably. Miss Lorraine Jenkins, daughter of Harry Jenkins of Crescent Road, Poughkeepsie, is among the graduating class from the Oakwood Seminary in Poughkeepsie. She is also a graduate of the local district school. Regents examinations for the pupils of the local district school will begin on Monday, June 14, and will continue throughout the week.

Fashions and Household Hints for Women

WOMEN In The News

GIRL GETS BOY

Betty Hale, 19-year-old coed at Drake University, Des Moines, was married to Kenneth Kaupp a few months after she rescued him from a leaking gas main.

HIGH DIVER?

Life began at 45. Mrs. Helen Sube, New York waitress, hopes she's trying a comeback at her old specialty—high diving.

WEDDING-THROWER

Mrs. Edward J. MacMullan, who has handled many social events in Philadelphia, will have charge of the du Pont-Roosevelt wedding on June 30.

HOLLYWOOD VISITOR

Although denying rumors that she's in the Scarlett O'Hara race, Mrs. John Hay Whitney, New York society woman, is expected to take some screen tests in Hollywood where she is visiting.

PATHEON No. 2423

What could be smarter for active or spectator sportswear—for cruise by land, or sea, or air, than this two piece, worked in contrasting colors. For directions send self addressed, stamped envelope to Editor Woman's Page, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Ask for No. 2423 and send in your order promptly as supply is limited.

Helps For Housewives

A knife sharpener is as essential a piece of household equipment as the coffee pot. Not even an expert carver is able to do much with a dull knife.

Chicken fat may be used as a butter substitute in cooking. Consequently it is a good plan to save the fat from boiled, stewed or fried chicken.

To remove dandelion stains from washable garments rub the stained area with lard and roll the garments up for thirty minutes or longer. Then wash them in warm water and soap suds. It is best to remove stains as soon as possible.

Suggested menu for a breakfast-luncheon. Melon halves filled with cherries or berries, ham and egg omelet with mushroom sauce, buttered biscuits, jam, a light sweet—such as sugar cookies, berry tarts or sweet buns—and coffee.

To add to the flavor when cooking a slice of ham cover the top of the same with apricots, peaches or pineapple and sprinkle them generously with dark brown sugar. Pans used in baking biscuits should not be too deep. Otherwise the biscuits will not brown evenly on all sides. Select a pan that is about one inch deep.

To remove cigarette stains from brass ash trays, rub the trays with a paste of salt and vinegar. Then wash them well in hot water and soap suds.

Iced chocolate is a nourishing as well as a refreshing summer beverage. Add chopped ice to a thick, well-flavored chocolate after it has been allowed to cool.

To make sure berries will retain their bright color be careful not to overlook them. If they are used in preserves store the jars in a dark place.

Saving soap does not save woollens. When laundering woollens be sure to use plenty of suds. It minimizes the rubbing necessary and, therefore, preserves the garment longer.

Store a jar of fruit juices in the refrigerator for emergency use in hot weather. Add a few mint leaves. Then serve the juices in chilled beer glasses or mix them into desserts to be frozen. Such juices may be stored for four or five days without impairing their flavor.

An ice made of tomato juice is a tasty addition to a meal at which roast beef or fowl are served. Other ices for summer include lime, mint, apricot, lemon, pineapple and lemon.

A let-down shelf in the cabinet in the small room will prove useful for a writing, dressing or work table. When it has been used it may be pushed back into place.

Place omelets on hot platters to keep them from "falling".

Paris (AP)—One of the prettiest frocks seen on gala nights in Paris was a black chiffon worn recently by Mademoiselle de Casteja and designed by Patou. The bodice was cross-shirred with a scarf of green chiffon threaded through the shirring at each side of front to make shoulder straps. One of the shoulder straps tied in a big soft bow that fell over the top of the arm.

Even Children's Suits Hew To Style Line

FOR COMPANY CURTISIES

Garnet velvet ribbon trims this Sunday best dress made of one of the new sheer cotton fabrics designed by children. Patterned with dancing dolls, the frock has a square neck, a gored skirt and tricky wing-like sleeves.

By JOAN DURHAM

(AP Feature Service Writer)

The Less-Than-Junior Miss is just as fashion-fastidious today as her elders.

Like Big Sister, she complains when hemlines are too long. Like Mother, she objects if waistlines aren't snug.

Socks have to be the right length. Shoes must have correct styling. Collures, too, have to be up-to-the-neck.

So mothers of these budding fashion-plates have learned a few tricks.

Sturdy Fabrics Best

To save laundry and minimize damage done by twelve-hour days in the sun they are stocking up with

FOR DILIGENT DIGGING

These two sun suits, also cut from fabrics designed by children, are meant for such arduous undertakings as hide-and-seek and digging in the backyard. The suit at the left is splattered with hat-topped musical instruments. It has circular pieces of fabric, finished with elastic bands, attached to each leg. The other suit shows big fat cats fishing for goldfish—using their tails as hook and line. Its big organdy bow holds the panties in place and adds a dress-up touch.

broadcloth, percale and pique dresses and sun suits for their less-than-teen-age daughters. Broadcloth for its wear-proof quality. Percale because it is lighter in weight and not so expensive. And pique because it is sturdy and wrinkle-free.

Romper-Type Panties

One of the latest sun suits has circular pieces of fabric attached to the leg of the shorts and is finished at the hem with an elastic band. The result is a garment much like the rompers designed for very young children—which eliminates the necessity of panties in very warm weather.

Another has an overall strap across the back underneath which a perky organdy bow serves the double purpose of holding the panties in place and adding a somewhat dress-up touch.

Organdy For Panties

For panties there are organdy and linen frocks. Mouseline de soie dresses may be worn on such august occasions as weddings.

Because batiste is cooler than nearly any other material, panties and matching slips of that fabric are being sold almost universally by better shops. In some instances they give way to mercerized cotton or silk.

This year's under-twelve made-moiselle insists on a hemline at least two inches above the knee. When she is thirteen or fourteen, perhaps, she will let it be lowered just below her knee. But for the time being the shorter her frocks the better.

Half-socks, too, are out of the very young picture. They have given way to socks that are strictly ankle-length. And they come in light and bright colors—to contrast

FOR SAND SUNNING

This sun suit is hand-knitted of mercerized knitting and crochet cotton. For the most part it's light tan. The edging, buttons and the fish, however, are in bright blue. Soft white ropes form the halter neck.

Wide-Brimmed Leghorns

The wide-brimmed leghorns hat with the schoolgirl streamer down the back is important millinery news. Scotch kiltie hats, not as popular now as they have been, are still considered quite smart. And there are some berets—with little rolled edges instead of those that tuck under.

Pigtails are in a class by themselves. There is nothing smarter for the young lady whose hair isn't curly enough to do up at night.

Curls are far from becoming ostracized, however. In both cases the hair should be brushed back from the face and neatly pinned or tied in place. Loose ends and bangs are very much taboo.

FASHION FANCIES

New York (AP)—Black bengaline is the answer to the problem of finding a dark, wrinkle-resistant coat to wear over light clothes during early summer. The coats are made in a variety of styles, varying from those cut on princess lines to saucy debutante toppers.

Paris (AP)—The Marquise de Lambertye and Madame Simon Rolo have ordered the same black crepe evening dress from Patou. It is a sheath gown designed with narrow panels the edges of which are shaped like tulips. Large pink roses are posed on one shoulder.

New York (AP)—Shoulders are coming out from under evening frocks after an episode of gowns of the high-cut, shirtmaker type. In the sudden swing to décolletage, thin shoulder straps present an opportunity for low backlines.

Paris (AP)—Many smart women are turned out in tweeds these days.

Leading off is the Duchess of Kent, who has selected one of Molyneux's tweed suits. The jacket is brown overchecked in red, and the skirt dark green.

New York (AP)—Once again, tissue gingham dresses, in cool patterns and fresh colors, are on the market. Housecoats, too, are made up in the fabric, with plaids and checks most popular.

Mayonnaise should be stored in covered jars on the upper shelf of the refrigerator, since it is likely to separate if it is kept in the coldest section.

A glass cut to fit the window sill upon which plants or flower-filled bowls are placed will save the woodwork. The glass is easy to wash and it will not detract from the appearance of the room.

Spread small rounds of white bread with cream cheese mixed with butter. Then top the rounds with a thin layer of pineapple marmalade or crushed pineapple. The latter should be well drained.

Etiquette

Watch Your Child's Quota Of Camp Spending-Money

By JOAN DURHAM

(AP Feature Service Writer)

Three gentle hints to parents of camp-going sons and daughters:

(1) Take every possible precaution to choose a good camp.

(2) Don't load your departing offspring down with don'ts.

(3) Remember that the camp mailbox looks lots emptier than the one at home.

With the constant increase in the number of back-to-nature addicts in the last few years, many assembly-night camps have sprung up about the country. Badly equipped, on unhealthy sites, and with inefficient managers, many of them are the scene, each year, of tragic events.

Investigate Carefully

The wise parent will investigate the camp his child is to attend—and then dismiss all worries.

It's a good idea to visit the camp, talk with the supervisor and, if possible, meet the counselor who will be in charge of Daughter Debbie.

It's also a good plan to look at the bungalow or cottage where Debbie will sleep, survey the lake or swimming pool where she will learn to do the sidestroke and glance around the dining and powwow cabins.

Just because Debbie's classmates are planning to go to that particular camp is no reason her mother shouldn't ask a lot of questions.

Same Equipment

Debbie should be provided with the same kind of equipment the other campers will have. And for her own happiness she shouldn't be provided with any more or any less spending money than her colleagues will have. (Consult the camp director.)

Once Debbie has left for camp, she must paddle her own canoe. She's expected to live up to camp rules and regulations—and abide by the decisions of the camp director and her counselors.

No whiney letters home—complaining about petty jealousies and troubles.

No boxes of candy (if they are forbidden) or epistles from Mother and Dad offering sympathy.

If parents have any complaints to make they should send them directly to the camp head—without letting Debbie know anything about them.

Cottage Cheese Becomes Of Age

CREAMY COOLNESS

Sliced cucumbers around the green of the lime gelatin and pear mold enhance the appeal of the cottage cheese mound in this salad. The cheese may be topped with mayonnaise.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

(AP Feature Service Writer)

There was a time when a glass dish of cottage cheese was put on the table as an accessory, along with the sugar bowl, the salt shaker and the pickle canister.

But cottage cheese has been graduated into the major food class and is winning more and more favor as a meat substitute.

Especially suitable for hot weather meals, it may be combined with other foods to make delicious salads, entrees, sandwiches and canapés.

Because it is nourishing and easy to digest, as well as economical, it often is recommended for very young children and elderly invalids—as well as for healthy adults who are especially fond of it.

Adapted To Variation

Cottage cheese may be seasoned in a number of ways, providing it is not "doctored" so much it loses its identity.

Try adding a little minced chives, chopped onions, parsley, green peppers, pimientos, olives or pickles—one at a time or in combinations.

Roll balls of cottage cheese in chopped nuts, parsley, celery, pimiento, or other salad greens. Such balls may be served with other salads or grouped together, topped with mayonnaise and served as a salad themselves.

A little gelatin added to a cup of cottage cheese and then placed in pimiento or green pepper cups, chilled and cut into thin crossway slices makes an effective garnish for cold cuts or salads.

Cheese balls placed in the center of pineapple slices or pressed into the halves of peaches, pears or apricots also form a tasty summer salad. (Thick French dressing should be served with it.)

Cottage cheese mixed with a relish, spread over toast squares or crackers, garnished well and served plain or slightly browned may be offered as canapés.

How To Mold It

To make a mound of cheese for the center of a fruit plate combination or other dish, press the cheese lightly into a cup and then quickly unmold it.

To make a tasty filling for graham or Boston brown bread sandwiches mix the cottage cheese with a little cream. Blend it with relishes and mayonnaise for filling the spiky type of sandwich. Or mix it with raisins, dates or figs—to spread over graham crackers.

To form a highly flavored filling for stuffed tomatoes, add chutney, mustard pickles, spiced pears, or catnip to generous portions of cheese.

For tea-time treats mix some of the cheese with preserves and spread it over crackers. The latter may or may not be toasted.

Beauty 3-Brush Rule Keeps Faces Groomed

It takes a bit of brushing to serve that well-groomed look, on summer's most trying days, what can be done with three brushes of varying size as June Lang, movie star, dextrously wields them:

LITTLE, WEE BRUSH

For the eyebrows, a tiny arrangement like a child's toothbrush will preserve the chosen line. Put a bit of oil on the brows and then brush upward gently. This treatment will keep the brows delicately arched.

MEDIUM-SIZED BRUSH

Powder may cling in odd spots if it is not removed with a soft brush. Like this. Apply rouge and powder, brush off the excess and there you are. Powder especially tends to cling along the nose and chin.

GREAT BIG BRUSH

One hundred vigorous brush strokes a day are the minimum if you want to keep your hair glossy. After brushing her hair from the roots up, Miss Lang settles her coiffure by brushing it back from her forehead.

Home Influences Are Explained

Ithaca, June 12—"A willingness to trust human nature, and the capacity in each child to grow and learn" was discussed recently at the New York state college of home economics at a conference on the influence of family experience on personality development.

"Perhaps a main duty is to provide experiences that will stimulate and give expression to native powers and capacities with which children are endowed," the group concluded. The attempts of parents, teachers, and other adults to try to mold or change a child's personality to make him correspond to ideals they hold, is also risky. A dominant idea was that personality is the product of surroundings acting on inheritance.

Intelligent and sympathetic interest in, and understanding of, the needs, interests, and feelings of a child or adult was agreed to be most important than efforts to help development or to change behavior.

Family relations modify a child's personality, according to Professor Sanderson. For example, the child's surname labels him a member of a certain family; and he, as well as society, often assumes that for the reason he shares the family attributes and characteristics. A child's intelligence is likewise affected by the family. Dr. Sanderson said.

In addition to his inherited ability, the method of reasoning is influenced by that method followed in the family, as is shown by children brought up in superior foster homes, who have a much higher intelligence than they were reared by their natural parents.

Emotion, affection, standards of conduct, and response to authority are also closely tied with family influences, according to Professor Sanderson.

"When standards of values of the family conflict with those of the social environment, the children are torn between what their families and what society expects of them; this is one of the major reasons for juvenile delinquency in the second generation of immigrant families."

Garden Club Sale to Offer Many Helps To Aspiring Gardeners

Miss Isabelle Overbush, chairman of the plant sale, which the Ulster Garden Club will hold on Tuesday, June 15, at the Saugerties estate of Mrs. Edward V. Wilbern, announces that a large variety of perennials, annuals and shrubs will be on sale that day and orders will also be taken then, for later delivery.

June, as all garden lovers know, is a proper month for garden reconstruction. Biennials for the following year may be planted at this time, as well as perennials and annuals, and the rare opportunity of buying healthy plants, which have been carefully grown and cultivated by members of the Ulster Garden Club is one few sales committees include.

The plant sale committee includes Mrs. Hermon Kelley, chairman of the club's horticultural committee; Mrs. Antonio Knauth, chairman of the Kingston Park committee; Mrs. George Burgevin, Mrs. Charles D. Finch, Miss Katherine Hasbrouck and Mrs. Harry Pearson.

During the afternoon, tea will be served on the terrace and in the garden. The choice of "Meadowside" as the scene of this garden tea and plant sale makes it possible to announce the afternoon of June 15 as the definite date, regardless of what weather prevails at that time.

The Wurts Street Baptist Men's Club will hold its annual outing and picnic meeting at Forsyth Park on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The families of the members are invited to join in this good time. Families are to bring their own basket lunch with ice cream served by the men of the club. After the supper there will be a softball game and other amusements. The committee in charge of the outing promises to all who come one of those good times for which this club is known.

The Philathea Class of the Wurts Street Baptist Church will hold a lawn social at the home of Mrs. Charles Nestell, 108 Henry street, Wednesday evening, June 16, at 7:30 o'clock. All are invited to come and patronize the work of the ladies of this class and enjoy an evening of good fellowship.

The council of the Men's Club of the Wurts Street Baptist Church held its monthly meeting at the home of Lester Locke, 41 Down street, Wednesday evening. Plans were made for the outing of the club to be held on Tuesday, June 15, and for the lawn social to be held on the church lawn Friday, June 25. There was much discussion concerning the projects to be undertaken in the fall and carried out by this organization, which is fast proving itself to be one of the live-wire organizations of the church.

Wiedemann-Sachloff.

A very pretty June wedding was solemnized Sunday, June 6, at the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, this city, when Pearl Sachloff, daughter of Owen and the late Mrs. Anna Sachloff of 40 Montrose avenue, became the bride of August Wiedemann, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Wiedemann of North street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. L. Witte, pastor of the church. The bride wore a gown of white satin and the veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bride was attended by Miss Eleanor Lindhorst, who wore a gown of peach marquisette, trimmed with blue and a blue hat and slippers to match. She carried a bouquet of Tailsman roses. Raymond Sachloff acted as best man and the ushers were Arthur Budenhagen and Wilmer Wiedemann. After the ceremony the couple was given a reception at the Kirkland Hotel. Immediately after the reception the couple left on a wedding trip to Herrin, Ill., and interesting points in the middle west. They will be at home after June 21 and will reside at 68 Franklin street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rodle of Washington avenue are spending the week-end in Madison, Conn.

Miss Peggy Warren is a guest of Miss Natalie Hoy of Plainfield, N. J.

Skimmington at Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Kent, Jr., who were married Tuesday in Knoxville, Tenn., have arrived at the Kent home in Hurley for the summer. They were given a tumultuous welcome Thursday night, when a large party of friends and neighbors gathered, armed with shotguns and other noise-making instruments, and treated them to an old-fashioned skimmington. The uproar finally subsided when the bridegroom appeared and properly recognized the occasion.

Col. Girard L. McEntee and John G. M. Hilton, both of Saugerties, motored to Albany, on Thursday, where they attended a stag banquet given by Dr. Leonard G. Stanley at the DeWitt Clinton Hotel.

Major Joseph Tate will leave on Saturday for Indianapolis, Pa., where he will be on two weeks' duty as umpire with the 112th field artillery of the New Jersey National Guard.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Kenny Baker never believed that guff about a child's being seen but not heard.

Kenny was heard in pictures before he was seen, and it's taken him four years to combine the sight and sound of him and become a movie actor.

Kenny is not exactly a child. He's 25. Four years ago he lost his job in a studio when the male chorus was disbanded. He had never been seen on the screen. As a voice in the employ of Mickey Mouse, he never got his face on the screen either. The first time, in fact, that Kenny knew how he looked in pictures was when he saw "The King and the Chorus Girl." He merely sang in that. Now he'll find out how he acts, because he has the lead in "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air."

A Native Son

Young Baker, hailing from Monrovia, Calif., has been under personal contract to Mervyn LeRoy for the past two years. The producer-director signed him after hearing him sing with a band at the Coconut Grove. That led to his radio job with Jack Benny.

Ingenious, a wide grinner, open-faced, Kenny plays a ga-ga youth on the air and will have somewhat the same role in "Mr. Dodd's." He is a man of all trades, is Kenny. One summer vacation he spent polishing furniture in a store. Another time he worked on Boulder Dam, and he's seen service behind the plow. He has sung in churches and with choral groups.

All this time he had his voice tuned and his eye cocked on the air. He never seemed to have any luck in audition contests, but he did persuade a Long Beach station manager to give him some time. That is where he picked up microphone technique.

Wins Song Contest

Eddy Duchin, the orchestra leader, revived Kenny's lost faith in contests. He won the contest Duchin sponsored, the prize $100 and a week at the Grove. Duchin went, but Kenny stayed on with succeeding orchestras. When he went with Jack Benny he left California for the first time.

He sings ballads and semi-classical favorites. He hopes to be another John McCormack.

Dippers, Sniffers, Have Own Way of Using Snuff

Snufftakers are not all foreign-born. Nor are they old. Nor are they all men. Some of them are sniffers and some are dippers. And dippers consider sniffers very low people, and vice versa, asserts a writer in the Detroit Free Press.

Dippers believe that snuff can be enjoyed properly only when it is placed between the lower lip and the gum. The snuff thus employed is mainly the semiprecious kind.

Dipping is the favorite method of the Swedes, Danes, Norwegians and Finns, who refer to snuff as "snos." Both the method and the name have been adopted widely by factory workers who thus satisfy an appetite for tobacco in places where smoking is forbidden.

There is a subdivision of dipping (also considered low by orthodox dippers) in which a chewed twig of dogwood or sweetgum is dipped into the snuff and then placed into the mouth.

It is among the sniffers that one finds the most varying tastes and the most ardent adherence to traditions. Sniffers either take it in the method that was fashionable in the Victorian era, that is, a tiny pinch introduced into the nostril between thumb and forefinger and sniffed up with sharp inhalations, or by the more masculine method of inhaling a man-sized heap from near the base of the thumb with snort-like intakes.

The flavors and odors that individual snufftakers insist upon (and get) in their pulverized tobacco include such things as oil of wintergreen, altar of roses, spearmint, honey, fig, rum, pineapple, apple, maple, menthol, peppermint, sassafras and angostura tonka bean.

New Station for 'Phone Company

Highland, June 12.—A building for housing the necessary equipment relative to the dial telephone system for Highland will soon be erected by the New York Telephone Co. Big Increase
In Construction

There was a little increase in market activity Friday, but all stocks were off on the Dow-Jones average. Industrials declined 2.05 points, rails were down 1.23 points and utilities declined 0.40. Corporate bonds were off and commodities averaged lower.

Building construction presents a bright spot in the picture. Statistics compiled by F. M. Dodge & Co., covering 37 eastern states, shows a 13 per cent increase in construction begun in May as compared with May a year ago. The total of $244,112,800 is a decline from the rate of gain in April, but nothing like the drop that was predicted in some trade quarters. Chicago companies dependent upon construction activity look for a substantial pick-up in the second quarter. Labor difficulties are having some effect, but business is still well ahead of a year ago.

It is stated that a new attempt will be made to assess income taxes and other surtaxes against profits made by foreigners on securities and other investments here. This will be in connection with the President's drive on tax evasion. Treasury contemplates publication of volume on alien security trading in the domestic markets.

Markets abroad were dull yesterday. The French Popular Front government is facing a critical situation, with a budget deficit twice the original official estimate. Premier Blum is being driven to adopt the policy of his predecessors, a reduction in expenditures and increase in taxation.

Arrangements are being concluded for sale of $75,000,000 of Socony-Vacuum Oil debentures to five life insurance companies—one of the largest private sales of bonds ever negotiated.

U. S. Steel contemplates no new financing before Fall at the earliest. The company will probably clear up preferred accumulations first, which amount to $3.25 a share, totaling $11,709,135. The company had 151,881 common stockholders on June 4.

Columbian Carbon's net for second quarter is estimated at $1.90 a share compared with $1.52 a share a year ago.

ARCTIC AIRLINE TO
SPAN ASIA, ALASKARoutes Outlined Now Await Official Approval.

San Francisco, Calif.—As the result of soviet Russia's development of arctic aviation, Alaska and the Aleutian islands are destined again to become the bridge between Asia and the United States, the Institute of Pacific Relations believes.

In something of the same manner in which this route in prehistoric times permitted the peoples of Asia to find entrance to the American continent, the institute is convinced that the same route, only this time by air, is to become the bridge between the two continents.

According to an institute survey, the soviet already has in view two alternative routes for its aerial services to the United States. One of these is from the most eastern tip of the soviet north, Cape Chukotak, across the Bering strait to Nome. The second follows a more southern course, leaving soviet soil in Kamchatka and following the course of the Commander of the Aleutian islands to Steward, Alaska.

U. S. Permission Not Obtained From these points it is assumed that permission can be obtained from the United States for extension of lines to Seattle, although it is believed no negotiations have been started to date relative to terminal and landing facilities in the United States.

In the meantime, however, the institute has ascertained that the soviet has been pushing the development of arctic aviation to a point where it is certain that Alaska easily can be made the "drawbridge to Asia."

Reports which the institute have received from the soviet's northern sea route administration show that during 1936 planes engaged in polar flying during the navigation season traveled 1,398,750 miles with 12,900 flying hours.

The number of passengers carried was 5,400 and the freight transported weighed 1,980,000 pounds.

Regular Service Established. In February of this year the soviet took one more advanced step in the development of arctic aviation by establishing regular mail deliveries between Khabarovsk and Cape Weller during the winter months when otherwise the inhabitants of that arctic spot would be deprived of contact with the outside world.

Trial trips were made early in February and regular flights were begun February 15.

The institute survey points out that Alaska already has a well developed aviation service. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936, the seventy-nine planes in Alaska covered 2,130,929 miles, carried 16,982 passengers and 2,418,616 pounds of freight.

Linking of this service with a service by the soviet would, the institute believes, contribute immensely to the development of the far north and the arctic regions.

The soviet, with flights last summer to Alaska, the survey finds, already demonstrated the feasibility of such a service.

As yet, the institute is informed, the soviet has not decided whether the northern or the southern route would be better. The more northern route is shorter, but slightly more expensive to survey and construct. However, the consensus in soviet Russia is that the northern route is preferable, although not ideal, and some sections of it as now flown should be changed.

Traffic and Other Cases in Court Here

John Tierney, 20, of East Kingston, arrested early Friday morning on a charge of reckless driving, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Culliton in police court today and was fined $10. He was accused of driving his car from one side of the road to the other, nearly upsetting it.

Carl Van Valkenberg, a truck driver of Margaretville, who was arrested, charged with leaving the scene of an accident, had his case adjourned for one week. He was accused of wrecking the traffic stand at Broadway and Railroad avenue, and then not stopping.

He was overhauled and caught at Cedar street, police say. Van Valkenberg was one of the tallest men to be arraigned in court in some time. He stood 6 feet 11 inches.

Frances Costello, 23, a white woman, and Lee Thomas, a negro, both of 19 Hasbrouck avenue, were arrested Friday afternoon on a charge of disorderly conduct in living together as man and wife without the formality of a marriage ceremony. The woman was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail and the negro was fined $10.

Ralph Melton of Newburgh was fined $2 for driving a car with four adults riding in the front seat.

Ambrose O'Neil, who said his home was in Port Jervis, was arrested for public intoxication last night. At the county jail it was learned that he was suffering from a hip injury, and instead of being arraigned in police court today he was taken to the Kingston Hospital for treatment.

William H. Grogan appears as attorney for petitioner. The application to the court asks leave to sell to the Ulster Provisioners Co-operative Association, Inc., of Kingston, a parcel of land at 22 East Strand for the sum of $5,500.

The parcel involved is the four-story brick building on Strand which is occupied by the U.P.A. as an office and warehouse.

The petition to the court recites the fact that there will be remaining real property to the value of $725,000 in the name of petitioner and that there is a mortgage thereon to the amount of $28,000 and also in addition personal property to the amount of $25,000.

SAUGERTIES MAN GETS SUSPENDED SENTENCE
Arthur Bishop of Saugerties, who has been held in the county jail on a charge of failure to provide for minor children was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail and permitted to go forth and seek a job.

Before County Judge Frederick G. Traver Friday he changed a former plea of not guilty to guilty and the jail sentence was invoked. He told the court he expected to be able to get a job and produce funds. District Attorney Murray told the court that there had apparently been some misunderstanding in the case and he recommended that the defendant be released from jail and permitted to seek work. The complainant was the Saugerties welfare officer.

formed no opinion. He was accepted as juror Number 7 and sworn.

LeRoy Kelder who uses crutches to get about was excused by Judge Traver by consent when it was pointed out that the jury would be compelled to travel many times up and down the long court house steps during the course of the trial and this would be difficult for Mr. Kelder.

Anthony Patrick of New Paltz said he had read of the case and was excused by Mr. Groves of defense counsel.

Robert Zimmer of Chapel street, Kingston, said he had not read of the case and had no opinion. He had lived in New York until a few years ago when he moved to Kingston. He was excused by the court.

Webster Markle of New Paltz, farm hand for Fred DuBois at New Paltz, said he knew nothing of the case until he came to court. He had no opinion in the matter. He was excused by The People.

Leslie Green of Kerhonkson, a farmer, said he had no definite opinion in the matter. He had read of the case and believed in the death penalty. He said he knew Mr. Groves as county attorney and had transacted business with the county through Mr. Groves. The outcome of the transaction had been satisfactory. The matter was the taking of a piece of his land for highway purposes. He said he did not feel he should sit on the case as he knew about the case and talked of it and heard it discussed considerably. He was challenged by defense and the challenge sustained by the court.

John Vaughn of High Falls was called. He said he had been on the William Seals jury about a year ago but that case had terminated before the trial was completed when the defendant pleaded guilty. He had read of the case but had formed no opinion. He was excused by the district attorney.

Raymond Bell of West Shokan was called and said he was caretaker at the Dolan place in town of Olive. He had read very little of the case and had formed no opinion. It was his first experience as a juror he said. He proved satisfactory to both sides and was accepted as juror number 8.

At this point examination of jurors was suspended and the balance of the panel was excused until Monday at 10 o'clock. The extra panel of 25 men was drawn and after cautioning the jurors not to talk about the case, not to read about it or to permit anyone to discuss it in their presence, the eight men in the box were excused until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when the work of completing the panel will be resumed.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

Johnny Whitehead is unique for being about the only regular on the Chicago White Sox staff who has never pitched a no-hit, no-run game. He is also unique as one of the two defeated American League elbowers of the year, one of the champion under-bell-answers in either league—and, right now, as "the man who came back."

Two years ago, when Johnny came to the big time from Texas, he was regarded as an outstanding flinger of the ball. He started off well enough, but finally wound up with a 100 average, 13 wins and the same old last year, the same thing happened, and Manager Jimmy Dykes decided he had enough of Mr. Whitehead.

He peddled Johnny at the door of every other club in the loop. "Whitehead," he told his rival managers, "is one of the standouts in the league, if not in baseball, but there's something wrong. Maybe a change of uniform will do the trick; I'm here to trade him." But the others wouldn't touch the fat boy with a ten-foot pole. Cleveland could have had him for Oral Hildebrand; he was offered to Detroit for untried Jake Wade; propositions were made to the Red Sox, the Browns, the Senators and even the Athletics. But so far as they were concerned, it was strictly no dice.

Came the start of this season, and Whitehead was not in condition to pitch. Dykes had to suspend him without pay. That did it. Next to going without meals, losing his pay apparently was the hardest thing that could hit Johnny. He really went to work and reported himself ready after 14 days.

In Boston, he made his '36 starting debut and whipped the Red Sox in ten innings. Less than a week later, he let the Indians down with one run, and then blanked the A's. Yesterday, Johnny made his fourth start of the year, and for the fourth time he went the distance. He stopped the Washington Senators 14-0. The victory was the 11th for the Sox in their last 12 games and boosted them back into second place in the American League.

Although Whitehead was hit hard, it was nothing compared to the 17th inning barrage the White Sox exploded, with Zeke Bonura connecting for a homer, two doubles and a single and driving in five runs.

The win kept the Sox just a game off the American League pace as set by the Yankees, who clubbed out 17 hits to blank the helpless St. Louis Browns 10-0, behind Charley "the Red Ruffing's" five-hit throwing. Joe Dimaggio continued his recent slugging with two homers.

Buck Ross gave the Athletics their first better-than-poor pitching in several days, and the A's trounced the Cleveland Indians 11-3. The Tigers uncovered their new rookie hopeful, Boots Poffenberger, and topped the Red Sox 6-5. The entire National League program was called off.

Hedrick's Brewers turned the tables on the Kyanize Painters before the largest crowd of the season at the Athletic Field evening by trimming them, 8 to 4. In their previous meeting the Painters shutout the Brewers. One inning—the first—was all the Brewers needed to win. In this frame they scored seven times. The Brewers took undisputed possession of second place by virtue of the victory.

The much heralded pitchers' battle between Joe Brown and Leo Komosa did not materialize as neither pitcher started. But both were in the game before it was over.

Komosa was rushed into the game in the first inning after arriving late. He went on the mound without a warm-up and it proved costly because five he was nicked for five hits before he could find his bearings. After the disastrous first he held the Brewers to two hits. Bud Swarthout was pitching before Komosa reported.

Jack Dodge, veteran right hander, started for the Brewers and did fairly well until the fifth inning when he was shelled from the mound. Joe Brown made his appearance at this point and it was just too bad for the Painters. Brown checked the rally and buried hitless ball to the end.

Gene Rider and Ky Embree were the heavy hitters. Rider hit the longest triple made on a diamond, while Embree connected for a double. Norm Niles started the Brewers off on their big rally. He worked Swarthout for a walk and went to third when Debrosky muffed up Kelder's sacrifice. Komosa replaced Swarthout and Embree greeted him with a double to left field to score Niles. Van Eiten punched a single through the center of the field and Kelder and Embree raced home. M. Berardi lined to center field and circled the bases when the ball got away from Knight. Short continued the hitting with a single to center field and Quest was hit by a pitched ball. Dodge drove one through Lamb at second and Short registered. Kelder got the fifth hit of the inning and Quest registered the seventh marker.

The Painters rallied in the second inning and cut the lead down by scoring two. Celuch singled to center field and stole second base. Darwins was safe on Van Eiten's error. Rider then connected for his triple and Celuch and Dawkins scurried home. Hedrick's added one to their total in the fifth. McLean singled to left field, stole second and scored on Berardi's single to right field.

Kyanize best inning was their half of the fifth. Lamb drew a base on balls and Komosa singled to left field. Stumpf repeated to the same spot to fill the bases. Merritt also singled and Lamb and Komosa registered. Brown then stopped the first works.

Niles pulled the best play of the game in the third inning. Merritt hit between first and second and it looked good for a safety until Niles pounced on it and threw Merritt out.

Lately most of the games have been won and lost in the first inning.

Berardis meet Kyanize Tuesday evening.

Looking At Louis

—By Pap

Joe Louis has not been really tested since Max Schmeling stopped him a year ago. So you can only guess whether his handlers have been able to correct the faults that made him easy prey for the German's right hand smashes.

Louis was a "fighter without a weakness" until Schmeling took him apart. The erstwhile Bomber could not, or would not, pay attention to instructions once Max clipped him solidly on the chin. Joe showed one thing that night: He could not change his tactics to meet the style of the man he was facing. He stayed in the same groove. Against a smart fighter like Schmeling that was fatal.

Against Bob Pastor last winter Louis again demonstrated he was incapable of altering his style to cope with the back-pedaling tactics Pastor used. There was evidence that Joe was none too willing to risk receiving a solid smack in the chops so he might get close enough to deliver one of his own crushing blows.

Louis is a terrific puncher. But it seems established that he must have a stationary target. Until he learns to corner his opponent he is not going to look good against smart, shifty foes.

For a while, at least, Louis is likely to have plenty of trouble with Jimmy Braddock. The champion is a master at riding with punches. He robbed Max Baer's right hand blows of their sting simply by constantly moving to his own right, and riding with the blows Max tossed at him.

Braddock packs a fair right of his own. It might be well for Joe's managers to school him against it. Experienced fighters insist no first class boxer ever need be hit by a right hand blow. They call it a "sucker punch."

Joe's handlers had better do something, too, about derailing his one-track mind. He is likely to find a resourceful fighter in Braddock, if little else.

Home Leaders Play Phoenicia Sunday

The game washed out last week will be played Sunday between Phoenicia and the Grunewald Home Leaders at the village diamond, starting at 2:45 o'clock, and expectations are that there will be plenty of "gingery" action.

Manager Molloy of the mountain club has not announced his lineup, but it is presumed that the battery will be Bush and Benjamin. Manager Charlie Diers, of the Home Leaders, will use Joe Dulin. S. Dzik, Bob Purvis and Eddie Minasian for infield duty. For the outfield he has H. Van Deusen, Al Panagan and Walter Gadd. Misove, Maher, Uhl and Huber will be ready for the mound and Don Kelly will be behind the plate.

Grunewald players are requested to meet at the Athletic Field at 1:30 o'clock promptly to get an early start for Phoenicia.

KODAK SOFTBALLERS

PREPARE FOR TOUR

Rochester, N. Y., June 12 (AP)—The Kodak Park softball team, 1936 national amateur champions, polished off preparations today for a nine-game exhibition tour of the south, opening Thursday.

Seventeen of the championship squad, including Harold "Shifty" Gears, ace pitcher, will make the trip. The stocky, bespectacled Gears, with a record of 48 no-hit, no-run games in 15 years, will bear the heaviest share of the mound duties.

Hollywood, Calif.—Cefarino Garcia, 147, Los Angeles, outpointed Phil Furr, 148½, Washington, D. C., (10).

Latonia Derby in Kentucky Today

Covington, Ky., June 12 (AP)—A dozen of the nation's best three-year-olds awaited today the flying of the barrier for the start of the $15,000 Latonia Derby.

A weather prediction of "fair and warmer" and a fast track brought odds on Heedly, a Kentucky Derby "also ran", to the same 3-1 position enjoyed by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' entry. The Mars' Milky Way stable combination is Roaming Reward, Kentucky Derby third place horse, and Military, an "also ran" in the Churchill Downs classic.

Churchill Superintendent Charles A. Nolte said the track would be fast enough by race time about 5 p. m. (E. S. T.) for the thoroughbreds to do the first mile in 1:38.

APPLEKNOCKERS TO PLAY

BLUE SOX AT HASBROUCK

Sunday at 2 p. m. the Old Catskill Appleknockers will play the Blue Sox softball team at Hasbrouck Park. Indications are that the tilt will be full of action, because there is plenty of rivalry between the teams. Artie Kaplan of the Appleknockers predicts a win for his club and Manager Dougherty says there will be nothing to it when the Blue Sox get going.

Crucial Softball Game on Monday

The Board of Public Works softball club will meet the Coolers Monday night at the Athletic Field in a crucial City League softball game. The Board is out in front in the race for the first half championship and a victory Monday night would practically clinch the first round for the engineers. The Coolers, in second place, are trailing the city representatives by one game and should the Icehouse Gang score a victory they would move into a tie for first place.

The Icehouse handed the B. P. W. its only defeat of the season in their previous encounter. However, the Coolers have lost two games and must win Monday's contest. Coke Costello or Jimmy Norton will twirl for the Board with Dederick receiving. Ferris Williams will be on the mound for the Coolers with Cowboy Every doing the catching.

Champ, Challenger Start Hard Grind

Chicago, June 12 (AP)—Unperturbed over the Madison Square Garden Corporation's apparent intention of suing everyone involved, World Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock and Challenger Joe Louis, planned heavy training maneuvers today for their 15-round battle at Comiskey Park June 22.

Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, the Garden's president, said yesterday that his organization would file damage suits against everyone who had a hand in causing "Braddock to disregard his contract to meet Max Schmeling" and announced that a motion for a re-hearing on the Garden's injunction suit to prevent the Chicago fight, already has been asked.

Promoter Joe Foley said the Garden's latest maneuver in a legal battle, in which it lost the first two rounds, would make no difference as far as the Braddock-Louis bout is concerned, that "it would go on, just as planned."

Brooklyn Golfer Looks Like Champ

Birmingham, Mich., June 12 (AP)—Little Frankie Strafaci is giving "the folks" back home a great run for their money.

The slim, 21-year-old youth from Brooklyn, playing in his first national open golf championship, is now scoring amateur as golf's most gruelling test swung into today's 36-hole final battle.

Competing with greatest campaigners in the game, he doesn't figure to win—but regardless of his finish he thinks he already has justified the faith his family has placed in his ability.

It hasn't been just a matter of telling Frankie to play golf and then wishing him luck, for the Strafaci clan members have backed their hopes for Frankie with cold cash—cash to play golf as much as he wishes while they work; cash to make a winter golf-practice trip to Florida; cash to come to his first national open.

Denny Shute calls the 133 pound Italian youngster the coming champion.

MARY PICKFORD. Won't Sit At Home

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—"For sale"—large hilltop mansion, tennis courts, swimming pool, extra guest house, 12-acre grounds. Comes furnished with sweetest story that ever went sour in film world. Owner desires break with past.

The signs are not up yet, and when they are they won't be worded that way. But the hypothetical notice above tells the story better—for undoubtedly Pickford will be offered for sale when Mary Pickford becomes Mrs. Charles (Buddy) Rogers.

Only two things were settled when I called: They would be married at a simple ceremony and they would not live at Pickfair, where "Mary and Doug" played royalty to Hollywood for 15 years.

Selling Film Stock
While other June brides-to-be are chasing from shower to shower, Mary Pickford has been busy—with business. It is momentous business, too, concerned with the sale of her share of United Artists, the studio she helped to found and guide through many crises.

This does not mean Mary's departure from active film life, say her friends, nor will marriage to Buddy Rogers mean the emergence of a new Mary-sit-by-the-fire.

Whether she'll star her 34-year-old husband is something even she professes not to know, but it seems in the cards that she'll produce pictures. All but five of her 44 years have been spent in stage and screen work.

Pickfair Park?
Lately radio and writing have added to her responsibilities. She and Jesse Lasky disagreed after two films, but she might find another partner. Or even go it alone, but there's less chance of that.

As for Pickfair, there has been some talk about it being acquired as part of the Beverly Hills park system. Mary, who got the property when she split with Fairbanks, never has expressed herself definitely on the idea. But she'd like—her friends say—to think of children playing on the rolling lawn, and of film folk meeting there, just the way they have done during her long tenancy.

Stuffy Joke

Rochester, N. Y.—A skunk on the winding road to Irondequoit Bay persisted in ambling across the highway right in front of speeding automobiles.

One curious motorist almost hit the skunk twice, got curious and investigated.

He found the skunk was stuffed, attached to a string, and answered the manipulations of hidden pranksters.

Dollars in a Dollar

Newburyport, Mass.—Only a dollar was stolen but Owen McGlynn was incensed.

The dollar came out of his antique shop and bore the date 1799.

Troubled Tummy

Mountainair, N. M.—Mayor Marshall Orme, 50, is in a hospital—a tug of war victim.

So determined was the heavy-set mayor that his team should win the rope pulling contest that he wrapped the strand around his body. When the huskies at each end of the rope dug in their heels and began to pull, the mayor collapsed. Physicians fear he suffered internal injuries.

Warm Ice Now?

Anaheim, Calif.—Neighboring citrus growers, busy with their smudge pots, laughed when George Barfoot turned on his sprinkling system and coated his orange trees with ice during the spring cold spell.

H. W. Price, manager of the Anaheim Cooperative Association which markets the fruit, said tests reveal no frost damage in Barfoot's orchard. Nearby groves have little salable fruit.

Tools in Ancient Egypt

Many details of the building of the Pyramids of Egypt are still shrouded in mystery; perhaps they ever be. Yet it is known that the workmen who built these colossal piles of stone, that have endured for more than 5,000 years, worked with tools which we think of as modern implements. They used both straight and circular saws. Their cutting and fitting of the stones have been the marvel of architects for centuries. They also used solid and tubular drills, and knew and used the principles involved in the modern lathe. Both their drills and the cutting edges of their lathes were set with hard jewels of some kind, just as we point drills with diamonds. They had also discovered how to make their drills extremely hard, for the cutting marks show that while their drills could make a cut of a tenth of an inch at one revolution in solid granite there is no indication of wear on the drill.

Most women like to paint the kitchen cupboards, or the bathroom walls occasionally, but they find it difficult and sometimes expensive to buy the paint colors "pleasant enough to live with." Jean Harlow's Glamor Crown
May Fall To One Of These

TILLY LOSCH, a red head from Vienna, represents the exotic type of glamor in Hollywood. She was introduced into films as the Oriental dancer in "The Garden of Allah." Since then her role of actress in "The Good Earth" has earned her a long-term contract, with stardom ahead.

ALICE FAYE, a blonde from New York, has often been compared to Jean Harlow. She is famous for roles in which voluptuous "hardness" is softened by a heart of gold. Lately she has been given parts in which her natural flair for comedy and pathos could be exhibited. She is definitely on the way up.

MARLA SHELTON, a brunette newcomer from Muskogee, Okla., shines with a dark, statuesque Indian beauty—she is three-eighths Cherokee. From a beauty shop she went into "westerns," was transformed into a "vampire," and now is being groomed for big things as Hollywood's latest glamor girl.
